Here are some extended thoughts on mentoring and discipleship.

As veteran home school educators our heartbeat is having home school parents be directly involved with their students in discipleship and mentoring as they work through the Bible lessons together. We believe Bible is the most important subject you model and teach your student(s) in homeschool. There is always remedial math, English, and other courses but if children don't get a solid, practical, personalized Bible education during their formative years, they will be ill-equipped to weather the storms of life in college or adult life.

We have encountered some home school parents who are looking for a "silver bullet" Bible curriculum where they can hand a "workbook" to their student(s) to do on their own. They don't think they need a teacher's guide or personal involvement. Big mistake! These are the last and most important years that a parent has to influence their students toward God and his truth.

Minimum effort IN = Minimum results OUT! (our soapbox-smile)

Unfortunately today we sometimes see a disconnect in church-going youth between their "church life" and their "regular life".

We believe our inductive Bible study methods will help change lives. Our Deeper Roots motto is:

"Helping move students from Bible knowledge to spiritual application"

Ask about our 21 day review program

Dear Bonnie and Howard,
 I know I've told you how much we have enjoyed your Bible curriculum but I wanted to put it in writing as well. I just want you to know how much we appreciate all the effort and energy you have put into developing this.

Over the years we have worked our way through all four Discovering....series books of the junior high series and completed Rooted and Grounded this year. It has long been my habit to begin our school day with Bible. Because I tend to use a unit study approach to schooling, studying the Bible has never been a 'class' but just a part of our lives. God has richly blessed us over the years with good materials and many happy hours of discussion and learning together. By far the best of all the good studies we have done, the Deeper Roots Bible curriculum led us consistently into a close fellowship with our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. Bonnie, as my mentor you have taught me well to 'study the Bible to know God, not just to know about God and that foundational principle flows throughout everything you've written. And I pray that I have taught my children the same.

Because we used the curriculum for our group study time – and not personal devotional time – we worked our way through most of the questions together, discussing as we went. There were times that we got so deep into our study that we looked at the clock and OOPS - it's lunchtime! How wonderful to be so caught up in our Bibles that we completely lost track of time! We studied cultures and geography and history along the way. Our hearts were enlarged as we prayed for people all around the globe – and we look forward to meeting some of them in heaven someday.

By God's incredible grace, all four of our children love the Lord and are walking closely with him. Dawn R.
